

Jung's Theory of the Self

10th of October 2026

Hellen Mabhikwa

Dear Colleagues

I shall look forward to meeting you all. This list is to be held as an addition to the ones you received for this topic over the years. I assume that you have all read Memories, Dreams, Reflections and or the most recent publication – Jung's life and work. So please bring any of your personal thoughts or associations to any of Jung's idea of the Self.

For this session I ask that you read what you can of Jung's essay: The relations between the ego and the unconscious which is in – Two Essays on analytical Psychology, Collected Works Volume 7, part 2. Pages 123 onwards. If you have time do read the appendices as well.

I suggest that you read this in the language that Jung has written it without trying to map it on to other psychoanalytic language.

Please add Jung's Black Book Volume 1 to your accruing reading list

Best wishes
Hellen Mabhikwa
